THREE INJURED IN TWO CRASHES OVER WEEK-END

The driver of a tractor-trailer truck and two other motorists were injured in two automobile accidents investigated by state police of the Gettysburg substation Saturday.

A truck operated by William J. Sharrah, 25, of 15 Pleasant street, Hanover, was struck by an automobile driven by Thelma Becroft, 37, of Upperco, Md., a mile and a half south of Dillsburg on the Gettysburg-Harrisburg road at 11:10 a.m. Saturday, state police said.

Police said the Becroft automobile was traveling north, and in rounding a curve its driver lost control, applied the brakes and skidded across the slippery highway into the truck.

Sharrah suffered a sprained neck, police said. Damage to the Becroft car was estimated at $225 and to the truck at $200. Miss Becroft was charged with failing to yield one half the highway and paid a fine of $10 and costs to Justice of the Peace George Brandt, Dillsburg.

Tow Truck In Crash

An automobile driven by Raymond Franklin Alexander, 19, Fairfield R. 1, struck a tow truck owned by C. L. Sheads, Fairfield garageman, at 8 o'clock Saturday night a mile east of Fairfield on the Gettysburg-Fairfield highway, according to another state police report.

Police said the tow truck was pulling another car out of the ditch and had one lane of the highway blocked. Alexander, they said, was unable to stop in time and crashed into the tow truck. They said it was foggy at the time of the accident.

Two passengers in the Alexander automobile were injured. Raymond F. Sease, 15, of Fairfield, suffered facial lacerations and Kenneth E. Weikert, 16, also of Fairfield, concussion and lacerations of the scalp. They were treated by Dr. Ira Henderson, Fairfield.

Damage to the Alexander car was estimated at $300 and to the tow truck at $75.

4 Cross-Street Traffic Timing Slashed To 10 Seconds Here

As a result of the state's survey of traffic conditions in Gettysburg, begun last fall at the request of a committee of the borough council, four traffic signals have been changed to reduce the timing of the green light for cross streets, Burgess William G. Weaver said today.

The 10-second lights on cross streets from now on are: York and Stratton streets, Chambersburg and Washington streets, Baltimore and High streets, Baltimore and Middle streets.

The three lights which remain unchanged are: Carlisle street and Lincoln avenue, Steinwehr avenue and Baltimore street, Chambersburg street and Buford avenue. The lights formerly were set to show green for 50 seconds on the main traveled streets and 20 seconds on the side streets, Weaver said. Four have been re-set, at the state's recommendation, for ten seconds on side streets. No change has been made in the 50-second green light for through traffic, the Burgess said.

The recommendation was made and the changes effected Saturday, to speed up through traffic and avoid congestion, the Burgess added.

The traffic lights when first installed, operated with a short period for the side streets. The period was extended to 20 seconds by the borough council to give cars and pedestrians a longer period to cross the streets.

The survey was initiated by the state, at the borough's request, shortly after council had voted to have the center plot in Lincoln Square removed.

Mr. Guise cited figures from the FBI which show that crime in the United States has increased at an alarming rate since World War II.

Proclamation
The proclamation by Burgess Weaver said:

"Whereas the alarming rate of crime in the United States is a very real threat to our domestic institutions and our freedoms, particularly at a time when America is engaged in the life and death struggle against Communist aggression and

"Whereas, the Exchange club has initiated the annual observance of Crime Prevention Week for the purpose of alerting the American people to the need for vigorous unrelenting efforts to prevent crime,

"Now, therefore, I, William G. Weaver, Burgess of Gettysburg, do hereby proclaim the observance of Crime Prevention Week February 19 through February 24, and urge all citizens to support this program and rededicate themselves to the task of eliminating conditions in this community which may tend to produce crime."

The other $25,000 for civil contempt was intended to compensate the government for the cost of bringing the legal proceedings against the union.

Washington, Feb. 19 (P)—Gen. J. Lawton Collins said today the failure of sea and air power alone to stop the Communists in Korea demonstrates the need for U. S. ground troops to help defend Europe against any aggression.

Yank Counter-Attack Gains Four Miles Against Korean Reds; Foe Has Strong Force

Tokyo, Feb. 19 (P)—Counter-attacking Americans smashed four miles into the heart of a Korean Red stronghold in east-central Korea today. Hundreds of Communists were killed.

On the central and western fronts, the badly mauled Chinese withdrew from the battlelines.

Li Gen, Matthew B. Ridgway said his Allied forces had won a decisive victory on these fronts. But he said the Chinese Reds have enough massed troops to prevent a successful Allied crossing north of Parallel 38 if the Reds commit them.

U.N. troops established a small bridgehead on the north bank of the Han river five miles east of Seoul but were driven back by Red mortar and machinegun fire.

The Allies advanced all along the western front, as much as four miles in some areas. Their lines were jammed solidly up to the south bank of the Han near the ruins of the Korean capital. The action on the east-central front was developing at two points north of Chechon, key highway and rail center 20 air miles southeast of Wonju.

Heavy Artillery Fire
A.P. Correspondent Tom Stone reported a task-force, rolling behind heavy artillery barrages and fighter-bomber strikes, punched four miles northward to within one mile of Chuchon.

Chuchon is 10 miles north of Chechon.

The task force jumped off at 9 a.m. (7 p.m., EST, Sunday) and advanced over snow-covered mountain roads. Stone said artillery fire alone accounted for more than 200 enemy dead. Small arms skirmishes continued throughout the day along the path of the advance.

A.P. Correspondent Stan Swinton reported that the other American counter-attack recaptured a bitterly-defended mile of a wedge driven by the Reds into the Chechon front last week.

Nominations for the Stamp of the Century will close on Washington's birthday, Thursday, February 22. Any stamp collector may submit his choices in this poll. Wylie, Editor, Western Stamp Collector, Albany, Ore.

After the last nominations are received the paper will list the leaders on a ballot, soliciting votes for the Stamp of the Century.

PLEADED GUILTY TO "SAVE TIME"

Dennis J. Little, Gettysburg R. 5, is claiming that his attempts to "avoid expense" by pleading guilty to a motor code violation caused the loss of his driving privileges.

In a petition to the Adams county court Saturday Little noted that the state Secretary of Revenue suspended his operator's license for one month starting February 13, "for failure to comply with an order of a police officer."

Little claims the basis for the order "probably was an information laid before Justice of the Peace John H. Basehore on a charge of failing to comply with the order of a Gettysburg borough police officer."

He adds that "Upon the information being laid in said case my petitioner paid the fine and costs not by reason of the fact that he was guilty of the offense as he expressly denied he was guilty of same, but for the reason of saving time and additional expense."

The county court set Monday, April 16, at 10 a.m. as the time for a hearing in the matter and ordered the state Secretary of Revenue to restore Little's license pending the results of the hearing. Little's petition to the court was filed for him by Attorney J. Francis Yake, Jr.

CHRONISTER WILL FILED
The will of George F. Chronister, late of East Berlin, has been entered for probate with the office of the county register and recorder. John Chronister, York Springs, and Raymond Chronister, East Berlin, are listed as executors of the $5,200 estate.

SPEAKS IN HANOVER
Rev. Willis R. Doyle, rector of the Prince of Peace Episcopal church will be the speaker at the Hanover Rotary club this evening at 6 o'clock in Hotel Richard McAllister. The program will be a joint observance of Lincoln's and Washington's birthdays.

Harry L. Snyder, Springs avenue, and John K. Lott, Gettysburg R. 4, are listed as executors of the $6,306.66 estate.

The estate of Margaret E. B. W. Taughinbaugh, late of Straban township, has been left to the Great Conewago Presbyterian church, according to the will filed with the county register and recorder. The late Mrs. Taughinbaugh leaves the Weaver organ owned by her and known as the Ida G. Brinkerhoff organ to the trustees of the church at Hunters-town to be placed in the gallery of the church. She requests that each summer a special memorial service be held at which the organ is to be played in memory of Mrs. Taughinbaugh's sister, Miss Ida G. Brinkerhoff, "and all other persons in the Great Conewago cemetery." She provides that a silver collection be taken at the service to go to the cemetery association.

She also provides $300 outright for the church and divides the rest of her estate into two shares, one share to go to the church and the other to the Great Conewago Presbyterian cemetery association. The First National bank of Gettysburg is the trustee and will pay the interest yearly to the two organizations.

Harry L. Snyder, Springs avenue, and John K. Lott, Gettysburg R. 4, are listed as executors of the $6,306.66 estate.

ACCUSE USAF OF "GREEDY GRAB" OF MANPOWER

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP) — Investigating Senators who accused the air force of a greedy grab for the cream of the nation's young manpower set out today on a nationwide probe of armed forces training centers.

"We want to find out if there is any more hoarding or waste of manpower in any of the services," Senator Lyndon Johnson (D-Tex.) told a reporter.

Johnson is chairman of the Senate Preparedness subcommittee which rebuked air force leaders last night in a report of an inquiry into overcrowded conditions at Lackland Air Base, near San Antonio, Tex.

"Reprenensible" Policy
The group said it found a "total breakdown of training at Lackland because the air force enlisted some 40,000 more young men than it could properly shelter or even put into complete uniforms in late December and January." It added that this was "deliberately contrived to deprive other services of superior manpower" and called it a "reprenensible" and "calculated" policy.

"This has resulted in a needless waste of critical manpower," the report said. "The men's time and the taxpayers' money have been wasted to an unjustifiable degree."

At the same time Johnson made public results of two separate investigations of complaints at Lackland by the air force. One was by a three-member civilian committee and the other by the air force inspector general.

All three reports said there was no truth in rumors that had reached Senators and newspapers of a pneumonia epidemic, deaths and even suicides at Lackland resulting from a rush of enlistments in the late December and early January. Of the three, only the Senate subcommittee report cited what it called "inexcusable waste of manpower caused by the selfishness of the air force."

"All of the problems at Lackland — i. e. housing, clothing, etc. — resulted from the basic fact that the air force enlisted more men than it was capable of processing at the indoctrination and basic training base," the report said.

"This policy was formulated in Washington, not at Lackland base. The Lackland command and personnel thus became victims of a policy over which they had no control. Furthermore, that air force policy did a disservice to the welfare of the nation."

Bullets Nip Bucknell 88-86 For Fifth Straight Triumph

The fast moving Gettysburg college basketball team copped its fifth straight victory and its 11th against six reverses by edging Bucknell 88-86 at Lewisburg Saturday evening.

Both teams turned in sensational goal shooting averages, the Bullets landing 36 of 79 tosses while Bucknell connected on 37 of 85 tosses.

Coach "Hen" Bream's outfit led the entire way but was forced to fight off a late surge by the Bisons to cop the decision.

The Bullets ran up an 8-1 lead in the early moments on goals by Watson, Hare and O'Brien and then Bucknell rallied to cut the lead to 12-11. O'Brien and Gallagher exchanged goals and then the Breammen swept ahead 22-13 before Bucknell scored again. Midway in the period the Bisons cut Gettysburg's margin to 26-23 and a little later to 30-29 after which the Bullets pulled away again in the closing minutes of the half. A trio of goals by Pizalo, Hare and Belber came in the last 10 seconds to give Gettysburg a 49-36 half-time lead. Belber's goal was a long toss from midcourt as the half ended.

Throughout the last half the Breammen enjoyed a comfortable lead until Bucknell made its late bid.

Joe Gallagher, sharp-shooting Bucknell forward, took the scoring honors with 15 goals and four fouls for 34 points. He made 30 attempts from the floor. Hank Belber once more put on a brilliant exhibition and hooped 10 goals in but 16 tries. Stretch Watson turned in his best offensive effort of the season on eight goals and five free tosses.

On Wednesday the Bullets will entertain Dickinson here. The freshmen teams will meet at 7 o'clock.

Sports Roundup

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.
New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—Don't tell us those football "educators" aren't foresighted. . . . Have you noticed how many good prep athletes managed to get diplomas in the past few weeks and enrolled in colleges in time for spring practice? . . .

Story as we get it from various schools is that there hasn't been any particular effort to line up football talent for next fall even though freshmen likely will be eligible everywhere. They're merely being encouraged all graduating seniors to enter college immediately so they'll be safe from the draft for awhile. . . . But at least one informant drops a hint that some educators thought of the possibilities as early as September and encouraged good prospects to take enough hours of school work to graduate at mid-term. . . . Slightly different angle shows in publicity quote from Rube McCray of Williams and Mary: "If we can get an excellent high school quarterback like Johnny Dean of Hopewell or Mel Roach of Richmond's John Marshall we'll use T plays next fall." . . . That sounds like counting your chickens before you have a hen.

Checking up on odd nicknames given to horses around Gulfstream park, publicist Horace Wade came up with this sad tale. . . . Seems a few years ago trainer Ben Chapman was particularly fond of a horse named Advocate, Jr., which Ben always called by the nickname of "Tidal Wave." . . . One of the ways in which Chapman showed his affection was by carrying lumps of sugar to reward the nag for any good performance. . . . Came a day at Rockingham park when Advocate, Jr., seemed to have been dropped into a soft spot and the trainer backed him confidently. . . . His faith was justified. Advocate, Jr., had the race wrapped up at the sixteenth pole when Chapman let out a bel-lows: "atta boy, Tidal Wave." . . . You know what happened. The horse heard Ben's yell, stopped and went looking for sugar while the rest of the field stormed past.

MONDAY MATINEE
Mr. Inside, the gent who has the lowdown on everything, sends word that Minnesota basketball coach Ossie Cowles is having troubles and may be the next one to depart.

... Lou Kussnerow, the football Yanks halfback who was inducted into the Army last month, is with a MP company at Fort Bragg, N. C.

Barber poles started when barbers were also surgeons and wrapped bloody rags around a pole in front of the shop to dry.

Shooting Does Improves Herd, Writer Claims

While Adams county deer hunters divide their opinions on the question of an open season on deer, Maine's deer herd proves that it pays to kill deer annually. The latter assertion, at least, is a claim of the Wildlife Management Institute.

In a recent article on the subject, written by Joe Pancoast, author of "Trigger and Reel," the latter says that Maine deer hunters were "too practical to be sold on a law limiting shooting to bucks only, with the result that Maine has continued to harvest bucks year after year and now boasts one of the healthiest whitetail herds in the country."

The Maine plan consists of a month or more to spread hunting and reduce the hazards of humans shooting each other instead of deer of either sex, says the writer. Continuing, he says:

Increase In Weight
"Twenty-five years ago, Maine's annual bag was 8,379. For the past three years it has averaged over 35,000 in a state only two-thirds as large as Pennsylvania. In 1925 a 200-pound deer was a rarity in Maine. But last year, weighing stations operated by the fish and game commission checked in 337 whitetails over 200 pounds and 55 that topped 300 pounds."

Here in Pennsylvania the deer controversy between hunters and state officials that came to a boil last fall is still simmering. Topping the agenda of the two-day meeting of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's clubs which opened in Harrisburg Friday were four resolutions dealing with the antlerless season. The federation, which claims 200,000 members, opposed the two-day doe season at its October meeting.

Adams county sportsmen's clubs either opposed the doe season in this county or remained officially neutral, but a number of leading deer hunters said that most of the sportsmen were opposed to an open season.

Menace On Highways
Some of this opposition was based on the fact that there was a closed season in Franklin county and hunters here feared an influx of hunters that would clean out Adams county herds.

One prominent sportsman said that deer have been increasing rapidly in some sections to a point where they are a menace to auto-travel in the mountains the herds are smaller, however, he said.

Game commission authorities claim that the deer belong in the northern counties and not in Adams county, an agricultural section for the most part.

Welched On Promises
Hogan declared the agreement on the Boston college game, won by BC January 11, 63-59, was that Roth and Roman were to get $1,500 each and Warner, who had an injured knee, $500.

The gambler paid Roth $1,400 and welched completely on his promises to Roman and Warner, the district attorney said.

Roth and Roman got good will bonuses of $500 each for the Washington State game December 14, which City won 59-43, and $250 each for the St. John's game January 2, in which St. John's was victor, 47-44. Warner was out with a leg injury during this spread.

Hogan said the players insisted they weren't asked to throw the games but to keep them within the point spread.

Name Ross Sheely Athletic Director

H. Ross Sheely, son of Mrs. Harry Sheely, East Stevens street, who is a veteran Trevorton high school teacher and athletic coach, has been elected athletic director of Trevorton high school, Trevorton, Pa., a newly-created post.

Sheely has been a teacher in Trevorton schools since 1926 and for several years served as coach of all athletic teams. He produced the school's best football teams and some of its most outstanding basketball and baseball teams.

A native of Gettysburg, Sheely is a graduate of Gettysburg college, where he started as a southpaw baseball pitcher and a football backfield player. In addition to his coaching duties since a member of Trevorton high school faculty, Sheely has taught history, sciences and languages.

This marks the first time in history of the school that a director over all sports has been named. Sheely, who is now coach of the seventh and eighth grade basketball team, will continue his coaching throughout the present school term.

BASKETBALL IS ROCKED BY 2ND BETTING EXPOSE

New York, Feb. 19 (AP)—College basketball was rocked by its foundations today by the second big betting scandal in a month and by disclosure that "fixes" are being investigated on a nationwide scale.

After three members of City College of New York's national tournament champions and three other persons were taken into custody yesterday on bribery charges, there were these swift developments:

1. Sen. Kefauver (D-Tenn.) said the U. S. Senate crime investigating committee has been probing this and similar fixes in other cities. "New York is not an isolated case," he said.

2. Dr. Hugh C. Willett, president of the National Collegiate Athletic Association, said the matter is of "great concern" and will be taken up at a meeting of the NCAA council in Chicago March 1.

3. Ned Irish, director of Madison Square Garden, called the situation "deplorable" and added: "Gambling isn't confined to the Garden or New York city."

"Grand Slam" Stars
The three CCNY players caught in the web of the latest scandal are Ed Roman, Ed Warner and Al Roth, stars of the amazing team that swept to the National Invitation and NCAA championships last year for basketball's first and only "grand slam."

District Attorney Frank Hogan said they admitted accepting up to $1,500 each per game to fix three games played in the Garden. The games were with Missouri, Arizona and Boston college. CCNY lost all three.

Arrested also were Harvey (Connie) Schaff, a substitute on the New York university team; Edward Gard, a Long Island university senior who played last year, and a jeweler, Salvatore Tarto Solazzo, described by the district attorney as a gambler who inspired the scheme.

Solazzo and Gard were accused of offering the bribes and the three CCNY players were charged with accepting them.

Schaff was accused of offering a bribe to James Brasco, a NYU teammate, promising Brasco he "could do himself some good" in the St. Francis game January 30 at NYU. Brasco rejected the offer, Hogan said. NYU won, 69-58. There was no mention of any irregularities in any LIU or NYU games.

The six men were arraigned last night in a special Sunday night session of felony court. Chief Magistrate John M. Murtagh held Solazzo without bail. He set bail for Warner, Roman and Roth at $15,000 and for Schaff at $10,000.

Face Heavy Penalties
Conviction on the charges carry penalties of one to five years in prison and a maximum fine of $10,000, or both.

Gard was held without bail in protective custody at his own request.

A seventh person, Robert Sabbatini, 60, described by police as an associate of Solazzo, was held in $35,000 bail as a material witness.

Hogan said a New York county (Manhattan) grand jury would open hearings on the bribe charges today.

The City college players were picked up late Saturday night as they arrived at Pennsylvania station after beating Temple in Philadelphia, 95-71.

This came one month to the day after the Manhattan college expose, which led to the arrest of two former Manhattan college co-captains and three other persons on charges of conspiracy and bribery.

Each of the three CCNY players received $1,500 for the Missouri game December 9 won by Missouri, 54-37. For the Arizona game December 28, which Arizona won 41-38, each received $1,000, he said.

Chuck Klein Wins Rio Grande Open

Harlingen, Texas, Feb. 19 (AP)—Golf's caravan rolled toward Houston today with another Texan in the headlines. Solid, methodical Charles (Chuck) Klein of San Antonio yesterday bagged his first major championship when he won the $10,000 Rio Grande Valley open with 269 for 72 holes.

Texas has been hogging tournament golf for years and even at this time, Lloyd Mangrum, the Lone Star starter who registers out of Chicago, leads the money-winning parade. But Mangrum and his Texas colleagues, Jackie Burke, Jr., of Houston, and Henry Ransom, of Dallas, who registers out of St. Andrews, Ill., were lost in the shuffle as talkative Klein, silent and grim this time, lumbered in with a four-under par 67 to capture $2,000 first money.

Par on the 6,095-yard Harlingen municipal course was bettered 23 times by the final field of 55 but the 67 by Klein was the one that brought home the bacon.

The contest will start at 8 o'clock and there will be no preliminary game. Student tickets will cost 50c and adults $1. Chambersburg and Hershey have each been allotted 700 tickets and a few are expected to be sold at the door the night of the contest. There will be no reserved seats.

Chambersburg, seven-time champion of the league, will wear its "away" navy blue uniforms while Hershey will don its "home" orange outfits.

Approval and arrangements were made for the officials. Complete programs will be printed for the game.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO
Jenny Lind's first concert at New Orleans on Monday night was the most brilliant affair ever seen in that city. The theatre was crowded from top to bottom.—The proceeds of the concert amounted to upwards of twenty thousand dollars!

Hon. Daniel Webster will please accept our thanks for the interesting documents he has favored us with.

Married: On Tuesday evening, at Burkholder's Hotel, in Carlisle, by the Rev. John N. Hoffman, Mrs. Samuel Houdeshell, to Miss Mary S. Greer, both of Adams county.

At Monmouth, Illinois, on the 19th ult., by the Rev. Benjamin Applebee, Mr. Jacob Spangler, formerly of this county, to Miss Rosetta L. Grey, of Warren county, Illinois.

On the 6th ult., by Rev. J. Ulrich, Mr. Andrew Lerew, to Miss Elizabeth Lerew—all of this county.

There is still no intelligence of the missing steamer Atlantic; and the mournful impression is now pretty general, that she was lost, and her ill-fated inmates have made their resting places in the deep caverns of the ocean. We sympathize deeply with their friends. Among the passengers on board were three or four Baltimoreans.

Died: In California, on the 19th of September, Mr. Rufus K. Guinn, formerly of Gettysburg, and son of Mr. Geo. Guinn, of Cumberland township, aged about 26 years.

At the Alms-house on Wednesday night, Mr. David Nesbitt, long known as a Teacher in this vicinity.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Borough Election: The election on Tuesday for Borough officers, excited more than usual interest, and there was more than the usual amount of "cutting" done. The recent anti-slaughter house ordinance and personal grievances, largely affected the contest. As usual in such cases, the Republicans suffered. The Democratic candidates took advantage of this break. We have never known such persistent "button-holing" of voters at a Spring election.

We can conceive of no good reason why the Democracy should be given the Judgeship twice in three years in a Republican Borough. Mr. Holtzworth is a pronounced, consistent Republican. Next fall when we come to the Presidential election some of these easy-going Republicans may learn that they made a sad mistake on Tuesday.

The result of the election for Town Council is understood to be an endorsement of the anti-slaughter house ordinance and means that it will be enforced by the new Council.

Today's Talk

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

WHO ARE THE JONESES?

Who are these Joneses whom we hear so much about? Where did they come from? Where do they live? What have they got that any of us have not got, or might easily have? And why shouldn't they keep up with us? Mythically, they are the folks who strut, head high and handsome, who think that we, who follow behind, don't amount to anything worth their notice.

The glitter, the applause, and the aura of publicity are what make them stand out and get prominence. But what is it all worth? Is it worth emulating? How long can it last? Too many people have tried to ape and keep up with the Joneses — to their sorrow and regret! The most important person in the world worth keeping up to — and surpassing — is yourself! The Joneses hope you won't do this, for they want the front place in the parade. But, as you know, all parades have their brief day and disappear into oblivion.

Dedicating his little book of essays, under the title of "Virginibus Puerisque," to his friend W. E. Henley, Robert Louis Stevenson wrote this: "Our affections and beliefs are wiser than we; the best that is in us is better than we can understand; for it is grounded beyond experience, and guides us, blindfold but safe, from one age on to another." That is a better idea to keep in mind than trying to keep up with the Joneses!

Our greatest concern should be with ourselves. How are we enriching our inward life? What are we doing to make life more livable, and less unhappy, both for ourselves and those about us? Where are the Joneses of yesterday? "Gone with the wind" and their imitative replacements will follow them, for it is "the way of all flesh."

Keep surpassing yourself, and compel others to catch the gleam. Said Carlyle: "Our main business is not to see what lies dimly at a distance, but to do what lies clearly at hand." From the Sanskrit I quote these lines: "Listen to the exhortation of the dawn! Look to his day! For it is Life, the very Life of Life."

Tomorrow Mr. Adams will talk on the subject: "In Memory of Louise Baer."

THE BACK THUMPER

Though marvelous is the human brain,

I'm puzzled now and then
And greatly bothered to explain
The ways of certain men.

Though some with faults I will defend,

Excuse for him I lack
Who tip-toes up behind a friend
And thumps him on the back.

The parlor comie, forty, fat,
Attention to command,
Who dons a woman's newest hat
With patience I can stand.

I think untiers of my tie
Are animals called jack;
But no kind word for him have I
Who thumps me on the back.

Oh, there is much men do for fun
That should by law be banned.
The thrower of the crusty bun,
As dad said: "Should be tanned."

I can forgive the joker grim
Who seats me on a tack,
But never will I pardon him
Who thumps me on the back.

The concert of the "Gettysburg Orchestra" in Agricultural Hall on Friday night drew a good house.

The programme, so far as concerned the Orchestra itself, was creditable—the music being well rendered. We cannot say so much for the vocal part which was represented by a gentleman and lady from Harrisburg.

Handy Hotbed Can Be Made Outside Basement Window

Most economical hot-bed in space, cost and upkeep, is built around a window opening from a heated basement, preferably a south window. In front of the window make a shallow excavation, about a foot deep. The size must be figured carefully, so that a frame set in this excavation can be covered by window or hot-bed sash. As in the case of other hot-beds, a glass substitute may be used on the sash, if desired.

Build a frame to fit in the excavation. The sides must slant sharply from a point above the window, almost to the ground. Fit the sash on this frame, using hinges at the tops so the sash may easily be raised for ventilation. Earth may be banked around the frame to keep out the cold; and the sides should be as tight as possible to keep out the wind.

The frame may have to be caulked, where it joins the foundation to prevent drafts, otherwise it is built like the garden type, using a standard or odd size sash as you choose.

Heat is supplied to this bed by opening the basement window, and allowing the heated basement air to enter the bed. The window is left open at night, and may often be closed during the day, when the sun is shining on the bed. Hot-beds of this type have been tried and tested, and although they do not maintain temperatures as high as other kinds the heat will be more even, and the ventilation much better.

The main things to watch are temperature and drafts. Ventilation is necessary on warm days, and for very short periods on cooler days.

for growing upland cress in the fall until long after cold weather arrives. Protection from extremely low temperatures is the main precaution necessary.

Farmers who have spring-fed brooks may grow enough water cress to supply the family liberally by sowing seed along the grassy banks or by setting out rooted cuttings. Succulent tops may be harvested almost every month in the year except when freezing weather prevails.

Where there are no supplies of wild or cultivated water cress plants from which to obtain cuttings, seed may be sown in a moist, fertile bed any time in the spring. Plants may then be moved to suitable locations and bear edible tops the first summer. Once established along brooks, water cress plants will spread and yield liberal crops for many years.

Beginners or inexperienced growers should not attempt production on a commercial scale without first locating a sustained market outlet and gaining experience on a small inexpensive scope of family-size plot.

For every hour spent in vegetable garden, the product of well planned work will pay high wages. Careful experiments have proved that to grow vegetables requires less time than it takes to shop for them in the market.

Spring begins when the sun starts north again. Days grow longer, and indoor plants grow more vigorously. In a few weeks hardy plants will awaken from their winter's sleep. It is later than you think to plan your garden.

If seeds are sown in a thin layer of sphagnum moss, placed on top of the soil in a seed box, the "damping-off" disease will rarely develop. The moss is sterile, containing no plant food, and no disease; it is believed to have an anti-biotic affect on moulds and bacteria.

If you have a sandy soil do not add clay to it, but put in all the humus you can. Humus will do for the soil everything that clay will, without reducing the porosity of the soil, which is a precious quality.

NOTES ON GROWING CRESS

It is difficult to find reasons why upland cress is not more widely grown in home gardens. Of course, production of water cress is somewhat more restricted because in most cases flowing water which permits control is necessary to promote successful culture.

Both kinds of cress are excellent additions to raw vegetable salads or in garnishing roles. Included in most combination salads they impart a relishing pungency not supplied by any other salad plant. Water cress commands a sustained market demand in larger towns and cities though its commercial production is limited to a few centers, usually in mountainous regions where there are liberal springs of limestone water to provide ideal growing conditions. Among the largest water cress growing centers are the Martinsburg, West Virginia, region and a fairly large area near Huntsville, Alabama. Too, there are several large cress farms in the Shenandoah region of Virginia and in the Ozark mountains of Missouri.

Water cress can be started from seed or green cuttings. And while home gardeners occasionally grow small beds in moist, shady sites by liberal watering, thrifty growth requires constantly running water, preferably from limestone springs.

Prospective growers who wish to learn more about the culture of water cress should write their congressman for free copies of Leaflet 134—Production of Water Cress.

Upland cress is one of the easiest of all vegetables to grow. The major key to success lies in having a young, tender supply coming to edible size from late spring until early winter. Seed germinates in three to six days after sowing. It may be sown at this time of the year in a cold-frame or even in an outdoor bed if the soil can be made ready. Cold-frame use is preferred because growth is thereby hastened and leaves will be ready to harvest in less than eight weeks. When grown in the open, upland cress should be seeded in narrow rows and plants later thinned to stand 4 to 5 inches apart. Sow only a few rows and repeating the practice every two or three weeks will bring upland cress to the table in its most tender and appetizing form.

Several experienced gardeners write the editor that they utilize coldframes and spent hotbed pits

BURNS WATER TO HEAT HOMES

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—Two Utah inventors say they have invented a device which burns ordinary water to produce heat for homes or power for industries.

George Jackson and William Daugherty, both of Salt Lake City, have applied for a patent on their process. Daugherty told a reporter recently experimental estimates indicated a pint of water could be used to heat a four room house for four hours.

The patent application says water is heated, under pressure, by alcohol. Then, the inventors said, it emerges from jets, apparently broken down into the two cases—hydrogen and oxygen—which make up water.

These burn at intense heat, the inventors said, and alcohol is needed only to get the process going.

Daugherty said he could make a home-made burner for $15. It would also burn other fuels, he said, without leaving carbon deposits, oil film or making smoke.

was previously announced to be held at the home of Mrs. Elmer E. Furlow, near Littlestown, but due to illness at the Furlow home it was held at the home of Miss Forrest.

The devotions were in charge of the president, Mrs. Robert Crist. The business session was held in charge of President Crist. The group considered having a bake sale in connection with an apron bazaar to be sponsored by the Junior Sunday school class for the benefit of the organ fund. No definite time or place was decided upon for the sale. A contribution of five dollars was voted to the Women's Society Missionary fund of the conference. A new shipment of greeting cards and plastic articles was recently received by the society. They were distributed among the members on Wednesday evening and will now be for sale by them. A social hour was enjoyed and refreshments served to the 13 members present by the hostess. The next meeting will be held Wednesday, March 14. The place of meeting will be announced later.

A covered dish supper will be held on Tuesday evening at 6:30 o'clock at the engine house for Littlestown Cub pack No. 84, for the scouts, their parents and their families. Each cub is to bring one covered dish to the supper, not meat or dessert. These things will be furnished by the den

FIFTY WITNESS DOUBLE SLAYING

Canonsburg, Pa., Feb. 19 (AP)—Nearly 50 horrified witnesses watched a 60-year-old constable shoot a woman to death in a tavern, then kill himself with the same gun.

Victims of the double tragedy, recorded as "murder and suicide," by Washington county officials were Joseph Meny, 50, and Mrs. Evelyn Fulkens, 30, of Canonsburg.

Steve Sepey, chief Washington county detective chief, was one of the witnesses to the shootings. He said he had gone to the tavern to interview Mrs. Fulkens concerning charges of attempted assault she had filed against Meny several days ago.

Sepey gave this version: Mrs. Fulkens came into the tavern and entered a rear booth. Meny, who was free on $1,000 bond pending a hearing, walked to the booth, asked her if she was going to withdraw the charges and she said "no." Without another word the constable pulled his revolver, shot the woman in the head. He then put the gun against his own head and fired. Both Mrs. Fulkens and he died instantly.

Mrs. Fulkens was the mother of two small children. Meny, married, was the father of three children.

Shortages Irritate Fighters In Korea

On the Western Front, Korea, Feb. 16 (Delayed) (AP)—Annoying shortages of six inexpensive everyday items are irritating American fighting men in Korea.

Stationery, towels, wash cloths, pipes, playing cards and spoons are the items which Red Cross field workers and Special Service officers are asked for scores of times weekly.

Soldiers in the field have no post exchanges at which they can purchase things the army does not issue. A soldier has to wait weeks for the parcel to arrive if he asks his family back home for something he wants.

"The greatest shortage is writing paper and envelopes. Men come in miles from their units to pick some up. We just can't meet the demand," said Gerald Page of Santa Ana, Calif., a veteran of nine years with the Red Cross. Pipesmokers continually complain that they cannot get replacements for pipes broken in Korea. Artist Howard Brodie of San Francisco returned from six days with an infantry platoon to report the pipe shortage was the soldiers' biggest gripe.

BUILDING ROOM

Washington, Feb. 19 (AP)—More homes were started last month in the United States than ever before in January, the Department of Labor's Bureau of Statistics reported today. And, it said, out of the all-time high of 87,000 non-farm dwelling units started in January 84,000 units were the work of private builders.

Duquoin, Ill., Feb. 17 (AP)—The mayor and four city commissioners of this southern Illinois community of 8,000 have voted to work for free for the next three and a half months. They voted not to accept their salaries the rest of the fiscal year, ending in June, to help the city's financial situation. The mayor receives $66 a month and each commissioner $50.

You can't trace the magic to any single feature...

All you know is that everything about this 1951 Packard is conspiring to make you forget there's anything mechanical about motoring.

Klingerstown, Pa., Feb. 19 (AP)—A 36-year-old air force corporal was reported today to have taken his own life because he couldn't effect a reconciliation with his wife.

A message left by the corporal, Franklin E. Sherry, of Klingerstown, said "it was the only way out." Sherry's body was found in his car in a wooded area near here yesterday. He had been asphyxiated by carbon monoxide fumes.

Spangler, by his wife, Mrs. Elsie Spangler and family. The anthem by the choir was entitled "Rejoice and Be Glad," by Nolte, accompanied on the organ by Mrs. Shirley Gobrecht.

James William Pittenturf, son of Ray David and Oneda Viola Humbert Pittenturf, Cemetery street, was baptized by the Rev. Frank E. Reynolds.

Most Wounded In Korea Recover

Baltimore, Feb. 19 (AP)—Ninety-eight per cent of the wounded American soldiers treated in Korea recover, an army medical officer reported.

Col. Laurence A. Potter, assistant chief of medical plans and operations in the office of the Army Surgeon General, told 350 reserve medical officers yesterday this represents a big gain over previous records. During World War II, he said, 96 per cent of the wounded recovered. And during the first World War 92 per cent pulled through.

Col. Potter said the frostbite menace has been emphasized too greatly. Ninety per cent of the frostbite victims are treated in the area, he said, and only 10 per cent have to be evacuated to the United States. Col. Potter addressed an annual meeting of reserve medical, dental and veterinarian officers from Maryland, West Virginia, Delaware and the District of Columbia.

CONVICT FLEES THRU 70-FOOT TUNNEL HE DUG

Baltimore, Feb. 19 (AP)—A 39-year-old convict wormed his way to freedom early yesterday through a two-story 70-foot tunnel from his cell to the unrestricted side of the massive state penitentiary wall.

He's still at large today. Joseph Holmes, "the dinner-time burglar" of the 30s, was credited by Warden Edwin T. Swenson with "the most fantastic escape I've ever heard of." He was serving the 10th year of a 20-year sentence.

The warden said it must have taken Holmes two years to dig his way out.

A slender, rather light figure, Holmes started his tunnel under his bunk. He carefully lifted out a piece of slate about two feet square from the floor. Then he hit cement. Piece by piece, he chipped away the cement, apparently working only between 5 p.m. and 10 p.m. when the loud speaker system blared out radio programs. This covered up the sound of his scraping and probing.

After 10 inches of this, he struck dirt. Then the real excavating began. He disposed of the material scooped up with scrap iron he had smuggled in by flushing it down his toilet.

Discovered By Guard
He angled down almost vertically about 10 feet, then angled toward the wall. Ten to 15 feet farther, he ran into a small cavern, hollowed out either by a spring or the overflow from an old storm sewer.

Holmes took odd bits of clothing and stuffed them into the crevices of the hollow—about six feet high and three feet long—to reinforce the walls and overhead against caving. Then he started digging again.

Once under the wall that extended 10 feet deep, Holmes angled sharply up, 30 feet away. The tunnel emerged in a sodded area between the main wall and a seven-foot guard fence.

The escape was discovered at 9:15 a.m. by the cell-house officer, George P. Gearheart. The motionless hump in Holmes' cot didn't budge when Gearheart yelled into the cell, so he investigated. He found a wadded blanket and pillow, but no Holmes.
